1 A brief introduction about Shelley

Percy Bysshe Shelley (4 August 1792 – 8 July 1822) was one of the major English Romantic poets, and is regarded by some critics as amongst the finest lyric poets in the English language.

2 Ode to the West Wind (partial)

2.1 I

- 1. O wild West Wind, thou breath of Autumn's being, Thou, from whose unseen presence the leaves dead Are driven, like ghosts from an enchante fleeing,
- 2. Yellow, and black, and pale, and hectic red, Pestilence-stricken multitudes: O thou, Who chariotest to their dark wintry bed
- 3. The winged seeds, where they lie cold and low, Each like a corpse within its grave, until Thine azure sister of the Spring shall blow
- 4. Her clarion o'er the dreaming earth, and fill (Driving sweet buds like flocks to feed in air) With living hues and odours plain and hill:
- 5. Wild Spirit, which art moving everywhere; Destroyer and Preserver; hear, O hear!

2.2 II

- 1. Thou on whose stream, 'mid the steep sky's commotion, Loose clouds like Earth's decaying leaves are shed, Shook from the tangled boughs of Heaven and Ocean,
- 2. Angels of rain and lightning: there are spread On the blue surface of thine airy surge, Like the bright hair uplifted from the head
- 3. Of some fierce Maenad, even from the dim verge

Of the horizon to the zenith's height, The locks of the approaching storm. Thou dirge

- 4. Of the dying year, to which this closing night Will be the dome of a vast sepulchre Vaulted with all thy congregated might
- 5. Of vapours, from whose solid atmosphere Black rain, and fire, and hail will burst: O hear!
